

A diagram illustrating the interaction between two system layers. The top layer is a light blue rounded rectangle labeled "Kernel". The bottom layer is a white rounded rectangle labeled "Software". Two large, hollow arrows connect them: one pointing from the Kernel down to the Software, and another pointing from the Software up to the Kernel, indicating bidirectional communication.

Kernel

Software